Good form

Art of Being Gracious.
The art of being gracious is a valuable asset not only in the social world, but also to the business world or man. Merely knowing how to be courteous has won advancement for men and women. For it is no easy matter to find employees who can deal with a disgruntled customer and still keep his good will. There are big business institutions that keep such men and women, and many of them draw handsome salaries.

A striking example of the value of politeness is told by a woman who was left to support herself and her child and who had never had any business training. Her husband had had an income of several thousand dollars a year, but it had all been spent on good living. After his death the wife applied for employment at a firm with which she had had an account.

"What can you do?" she was asked. "Partly in jest she replied she could write a polite note. To her surprise she was taken at her word, for the firm was badly in need of such a person. She was told that it was difficult to find some one who could answer complaints in such a way that the friendship of the customer was retained. For several years she supported herself and her child by writing polite notes.

In another instance a young man arose from an insignificant position to that of secretary of the president and diplomat for the concern. He was never too busy to perform an act of courtesy, and it was noticed that he was bringing new customers to the firm. He was not one of those young men who size up the clothes of a visitor, and his good treatment of one unfashionably dressed visitor got him $50,000 deposit for the firm. One of his duties now is to tour the banks of the country and get exchange accounts.

Often two people start a similar business in the same block. One will thrive while the other starves for lack of patronage. Near a New York college two young women opened manicure rooms within a few doors of each other. They had the same prices, but the grade of work differed. One woman was tactful and businesslike; the other was slovenly and offended her customers by telling them it was hard to make their hands look nice. The first one soon enlarged her quarters.

Do's and Don'ts in Mourning.
There has perhaps been no more misapprehension or who-does-it-better than the one that has taken place so far as mourning is concerned.

No longer do people swathe themselves in wrappings of cotton, fragile crepe. Even a widow's weeds are so modified that she is no more a somberly conspicuous figure. Sensible and good taste have banished the deeply bordered handkerchiefs and the fear-some note paper and envelope with each border of black. We wear mourning suit as a mark of respect and as a "protection" for seeing what we wear no painful questions are asked by acquaintances. But the mourning of today is neither uncomfortable nor ugly and certainly not the fearfully expensive business it once was.

All mourning should be of the most severely simple order. Elaborately trim a dress or hat and it ceases to be mourning for all practical purposes.

Black velvet or satin is not mourning, nor whilst in deep mourning must a really delectable evening gown be worn. Almost all jewelry should be discarded. The only wear is a simple white black is the only wear. Dull jet pins or a buckle to the waist belt are permissible, but not gold, silver or any colored stones. The only jewelry to be worn, with, naturally, the exception of an engagement or wedding ring.

Never wear a colored undershirt. Nothing looks worse than the white sheeting glimpse of color when the wearer moves, and embroidered or "lace" stockings are also in bad taste. Rude or dull garter garters are equally correct. The latter have the advantage of wearing better, and a black or dark gray nuckintosh must be worn.

Never adopt the ridiculous device of a band on the left arm and imagine by this means to turn a colored coat into mourning. Such a band has only a meaning when worn with uniform.

Public Caring.

The same quietness of demeanor which marks well-bred people in public courtesies or meeting places should be practiced on the street. Careless in public or calling to acquaintances the width of the street way is distinctly in bad form, and a lack of consideration for others is shown in the carelessness which does not keep to the right side of the sidewalk in promenading, which results through swinging doors without a backward glance to see whom the door may catch in the rebound, or the street way is shut at box office and ticket office with no respect for the rights of those earlier on the ground. Another violation of courtesy is to be in the way in the charge of the man who smokes on the street when with a woman.

Etiquette For the Debutante.
Etiquette forbids a debutante to issue invitations to men. A written note signed by her and expressing the wish of her mother that she be invited is the only invitation that may be sent by unmarried women to their men friends.

"I SHOULD WORRY."

Our Latest Bling Phrase Seem to Be Common Property.

"Ich sollte sorgen."
"Je m'inquiète."
"Glad na chtochno se lebozhu."
"Sarei incenero."

Nations are fighting for it. Up on the north side the Germans are positive that the expression was borrowed by Goethe himself. On Hasted street the Greeks insist that the expression was born at Thermopylae when Leonidas gazed complacently at the horde of Persians and then at his own staunch little band. The French claim they have shrugged their shoulders to "Je m'inquiète" since the days of Charlemagne. The Italians say the remark fell from the lips of the Red-ding hero while Rome was in flames. And all it means is:

"I should worry."
This phrase, expressive of complacency during circumstances commonly supposed to be of a trying nature, has fastened its tentacles on the country with all the adhesive qualities of "Twenty-three" and "Deli, it is Sweeney" and "I gotta, Steve."

"It is a wholesome and exceedingly expressive phrase for a rather complicated mental attitude," said an instructor at the University of Chicago who preferred not to have his name used. "Personally," said he, "I am of the belief that the expression as we now use it comes directly in literal translation from the German. The 'Ich sollte' of the Germans is a common usage, and in translation it has a quaint ring that is irresistible."

There was a lengthy discussion in the Auditorium theater when the opera "The Merry Widow" was given, which was acquainted with the American "I should worry."

"This is our 'Sarei incenero,'" cried one of the singers. "It means 'I should be in thought—I should brood.' In fact, 'I should worry.' Oh, yes! It is a common expression. When we have to go on the border cars and sing many times in a week and sleep in uncomfortable beds we just think of our salaries and the money we say, 'Sarei incenero.'"—Chicago News.

MADE THE GAME LEVELLY.

The Bateman and the Umpire Were Both Out Automatically.

Umpire "Red" Held, who worked in the Connecticut league last season, tells of an experience he had. When Kansas State league to get out of second base. The second baseman allowed the ball to drop safely. The base runner advanced to second base and was tagged out. The batsman ran to first and got there in safety. A riot broke out when I declared two men out.

When the second baseman was tagged out, the batsman was in the field with first and second bases occupied.

"But the second catcher never caught the ball," roared a bully who was sadly in need of a hair cut.

He was glad to catch it. The batsman went out automatically with one down and two bags occupied.

"He was out automatically," was declared the cowpuncher. "Well, I guess it's time for you to go out automatically." With that he roared me in the neck with a right hook.

He was not the only one who was hurt. When the sun went down I beat it out the back way, hopped a slow freight and resigned by wire the next day.—New York World.

A New Use For Beggars.
A bold scheme to use the Paris, having been much troubled with mendicants, put a wheel near the entrance to the building, and above it was placed a sign which read "Charity degrades." With him who gives and him who takes, "Turn this wheel 100 times and get half a franc." Numerous beggars applied for the wheel, and the discovery was made that the force employed was utilized to draw water from a well which served for practical purposes.

When the wheel was turned, the water was poured into a bucket, and the bucket was used to draw water from a well which served for practical purposes.

Painless Slaughter.
The Zoophilist, organ of the National Anti-Vivisection society of England, gives a description of a new instrument "for the elimination of pain in the slaughter of animals for food." The instrument, according to the description, "when the air is pumped into it acquires a pressure of 100 pounds to the square inch and releases a bolt which is driven into the animal's head, and at once life is extinct." The count of justice to the animal is supplied the painless method was demonstrated at the Islington abattoirs, pronounced the method "safe as it is humane."

Painful Psychology.
A keen intellect thus analyzes the question: How warm is it in winter. But that is the time when many people want fresh eggs, and they think they are getting what they want if they are made to pay enough. High prices are therefore psychological, not economic, phenomena.—Philadelphia Record.

The Largest Organ.
St. Michael's church, recently dedicated at Hamburg in the presence of the emperor, claims the largest organ in the world. It is over fifty-seven feet high and is divided into five stories.

The organ is played in five distinct keyboards. The electric motors, each of five horsepower, supply the air pressure.

TAILORED SUITS.

Bright Colors and Ribbed Materials Lead in Spring Fashions.

It goes without saying that sturdy and sturdy tailored suits of ribbed and velvets are being made and will be quickly bought up at the sales the shops are now offering. These who think of the merrill will go for the "Twenty-three" and "Deli, it is Sweeney" and "I gotta, Steve."

Tailors are turning to color chiefly because these new tailor materials present it with such striking texture. The new suits are being trimmed with the best, just important buttons, with perhaps the collar facings of contrasting fabric, although even this last is at a discount, as ribbed ruffs and velours make such agreeable collar facings themselves. By the way, there is a delightful little about long wrap coats in these materials.

Making steady headway in the approval of all those whose aim it is to keep in the fashion of the day, the beautiful Bulgarian embroideries. These, for the most, have largely overtaken the Japanese, Chinese and oriental "Bulgars" in the past abbreviation of the moment. There is even a "Bulgars" cloth, a rather rough, clumsy weave with a patterned border, a worsted effect, and the characteristic of the troublesome Bulgarian state.

To many minds, however, quite the most fascinating medium of expression is provided in some little colors, adjustable affairs, that give the most beautiful and novel touch to either color or fabric. The color harmonies introduced are singularly artistic, a dull oxidized thread frequently entering into the scheme, sometimes as a narrow band, sometimes as a large area, and sometimes as a groundwork. The colors generally trend to somberness, but there is no mistake at all as to the extremely attractive nature of the "Bulgars" colorings and embroideries nor any doubt that they are prepared to take a leading place in the forthcoming season's fashions.

During these conflicts, Canaan lay right in the path of the armies and was often the scene of bloody battles between the combatants. There is no light in history more courageous than the heroic deeds of the Maccabees against the Greeks.

About the time of the appearance of Christianity, the Romans got absolute control of Judea, and the final dispersion of the Jews began. The writings of the Jews have gone on from that time to this, until there is scarcely a corner of the globe where they are not found, engaged in all kinds of industrial activities and mental pursuits, and with generally successful success. The people are as peculiar to-day as when that writer of their own race placed them in the "Bulgars" credit. After a period of 4,000 years the race remains virile, prolific and progressive, and it is difficult to credit that other race in the pages of history.

Their rise in intellectual acquirements, their growth in the face of universal and persistent opposition, and their triumph over all odds, as the writer says of Ishmael, half-brother of Isaac, representing Ishmael's desire to be a man, and his struggle against every man and every man's hand against him. The last part of this prophecy has been fulfilled in the much more than the deeds of his half-brother.

It is no different from other Christian nations in its treatment of the Jews. The Jews are a people of a survival of the fittest. From the time when the pagan Emperor Nero with crude asphaltum and set fire to them as the first instance on record of the persecution of the Jews, they have been a people of a survival of the fittest. They have been a people of a survival of the fittest. They have been a people of a survival of the fittest.

When traveling it is often necessary for the traveler to have a small box of food. It is in this electrical age the old fashioned tongs that were heated in gas or no use winter, so something else to meet this need had to be evolved.

The manufacturers recently have added to mildy's comfort by making the new alcohol curling iron seen in the illustration. One can load this iron, as

It was, before leaving home. If the journey is to be a short one, with alcohol, which is applied to a piece of cotton wadding, and the wadding is placed in the iron having perforated holes.

It is but the work of a minute to put the iron in the wadding and to heat it to the right temperature. This iron is far ahead of the old curling tongs which were heated in an alcohol lamp.

It isn't because the cigar is badly made that the wrapper sometimes comes unrolled. It is because the cigar is a left-handed one.

Cigar makers must be ambidextrous. They cut the wrapper and leaf on the left, rolling it from left to right on the filler, while the other pieces are placed with the left hand, from right to left.

A nervous smoker, twisting and turning his cigar, has no trouble with a right hand one, but if it happens to be a left hand one it is apt to come undone.

Sing Him Up.
When you call the average young man to the telephone, he will be in a state of gratification. When you call him competent, his chest begins to throb. When you tell him he is a breaker he slaps you on the shoulder and gives you to understand that he is a breaker. When you tell him he is a breaker he slaps you on the shoulder and gives you to understand that he is a breaker. "A PECULIAR PEOPLE."

Despite Dispersion and Persecution the Jews Remain Virile.

The Scriptures call the Jews "a peculiar people," and they have been so ever since. They are now progressing along in the 50th century of their existence, and they are still a people to go back to many centuries before that date to reach the first mythical legends of their history. The Jews are a people of a survival of the fittest. They have been a people of a survival of the fittest. They have been a people of a survival of the fittest.

During these conflicts, Canaan lay right in the path of the armies and was often the scene of bloody battles between the combatants. There is no light in history more courageous than the heroic deeds of the Maccabees against the Greeks.

CROCHET INITIALS.

Something Quite New in Handkerchief Lettering.

A dainty way to mark handkerchiefs is to crochet very fine medallions of lace with letters in the center. Two corners of handkerchiefs are here illustrated with the letters "T" and "P."

First Row—Work 30 chain, 3 treble in ninth stitch from the second, taking up two chains throughout the work, then 2 chain, miss two stitches, 1 treble to end of row, making eleven squares in every row.

Second Row—Turn always with 5 chain, 1 treble on the second treble 2.

Third Row—Work 4 squares, repeat 2 treble under two chain and 1 treble on a treble three times, 4 squares.

Fourth Row—Work 4 squares, repeat 2 chain, miss two treble, 4 treble on a treble, 5 squares.

Fifth Row—Work 5 squares, 4 treble on four treble, 5 squares.

Seventh Row—As fifth row.

Eighth Row—Work 2 squares, 2 treble under two chain, 1 treble on a treble, 1 square, 2 chain, 4 treble, 2 squares, 2 treble under two chain, 1 treble, 2 squares.

Ninth Row—Work 1 square, 2 chain, 4 treble on four treble, 2 treble under, 4 treble on a treble, 2 treble under, 1 treble on a treble, 4 treble on four treble, 2 squares.

Tenth and Eleventh Rows.—Plain with 11 squares in each.

These eleven rows complete the letter.

Do not turn, but proceed to work the border on all four sides, beginning on the left side of the letter.

The Border.—Put the ball of cotton through the stitch on the needle and draw it up tight, bringing the cotton through the next square to the corner and work 1 chain, 3 double in this second square from the corner, 3 chain, miss next chain and bring needle in this small loop, 3 double in the next square; repeat from * to the first corner. Fill the corner loop with 4 double, then continue the border as in the illustration.

When the medallion is finished take it crossways in the corner of a handkerchief and sew it with fine cotton along the edge of the border, bringing the needle under the chain of the border to the front, then placing it under the next chain and bringing it out on the under side of the handkerchief. Thus the medallion will be firmly sewed to the linen of the handkerchief.

When this is finished cut a square of the linen from under the lace, leaving about one-eighth of an inch from the sewing on line. Overcast this one-eighth with a very nearly, and the initial is complete.

The Letter "P."—Work 36 chain for the foundation line, then proceed as in the directions for letter "T," making 11 squares in each row and copying the number of squares and trebles from the illustration.

The Mannish Shirts.
The simpler blouses to complete the attire and linen suit are built on the lines of the mannish shirt. The majority are either plaited or tucked. A neat design calls for clusters of pin tucks edged with Valenciennes lace on either side of the front plait. Another dresser model has two broad tucks edged with Valenciennes lace on either side of the front plait. The soft turn over collar and folded back cuffs edged with the lace carry out the color scheme suggested in the colored trim.

The inevitable silk tie continues the color harmony and finishes a very dainty yet simple blouse.

Household Matters.
If you have a job which is troublesome to iron basin the plait in and remove the threads. Use fine thread. Towels should not be put in the guest room when they are brand new. Use them upon they have been laundered several times and lose their stiffness. To wind a curtain remove it from the brackets, roll it up by hand and then fold it in the middle and pull out full length. Repeat if necessary.

To Uncover a Glass Jar.
It is often very difficult to uncover a tin cover from a glass jar. A very simple and satisfactory way to get it off is to take a knife handle and tap the top of the tin cover all round the edge. The widens the thread of the screw of the cover and enables one to turn the cover very easily.

Liverpool's Chinatown.
Liverpool, England, boasts of quite an extensive Chinatown. In this quarter of the town one can find numerous Chinese shops, sailors' boarding houses, several restaurants and a Chinatown.

THEY WARED FOR LOVE.

WHAT MEN HAVE DONE FOR CHARMING WOMEN.

Since Mark Antony's Time There Have Been Myriads of Men Who Have Done Everything For the Women They Adored.—Sverdrun.

Wine From Lady's Shoe.

That "love often makes a fool of the cleverest men" history furnishes abundant proofs, ever since (and long before) Mark Antony fell under the spell of Cleopatra's dark eyes and crowned a career of folly with suicide.

Sverdrun, revealing the role of hackney-coachman for the pleasure of driving his adored Nightingale of Bull's to her home night after night and exchanging love-glances with her under the eyes of her unsuspecting fatherly and cunning uncle, the master of the hackney-coachman, his master's daughter on her daily rides.

William Pitt, most unsentimental of men, as he considered times was so intoxicated by the charms of a pretty maid of Devon that he drank her health in canary and lost his head; and his daughter, her daughter, a nobleman of his day, actually sold his soul to a woman, the lady he loved for twenty long years, until her husband's death sent her to a convent, where she died.

And so it has always been—from the German harp who had his right hand under the strings of a lute, and his left hand on the check of the woman whose little finger was more to him than a crown, and who, in the end, glided young French nobleman, who served years of apprenticeship to the law, and who, in the end, proved to his lady-love that he was not the butterfly of pleasure she feared.

There is no year that does not yield its crop of similar stories of men who have done everything for the women they loved. Congratulations

The Alberta theological college held its third convocation at Edmonton on Tuesday and we are pleased to note that F. Stacey McCall, well known to residents of The Pass, is among those receiving highest honors and has conferred upon him the degree of Bachelor of Divinity. Mr. McCall won the Miriam Kent gold medal for proficiency in theology.

Kenneth Kingston is also mentioned in the honor list, being awarded the Leonard Gaetz Scholarship.

Both the above gentlemen served acceptable pastorates at Knox Methodist church, Frank, and their many friends will be pleased to learn of their success.

So Says 'Cotton's Weekly'

"Charlie O'Brien has again been elected from the Rocky Mountain district for the Alberta legislature. This triumph shows that Socialism has a far stronger hold than ever before in Alberta. O'Brien has been a thorn in the side of the capitalist politicians. His voice has been raised for the producing class alone. The capitalist politicians could pull off no smooth stunts. Charlie was there to expose the real motive for the actions. He tore aside the veil of hypocrisy. He was not wanted and the capitalist politicians took measures to prevent him from returning to the scene of their activity. In the recent redistribution of the provincial seats, although the province was so arranged that almost a score of new seats were created, a large farming district was attached to the Rocky Mountain division, thus making it more populous than ever. This was done in the hope that the farmer vote could be hornswoggled into the capitalist column. It was a glaring example of gerrymandering. This, however, was not considered sufficient, so the liberals ran a "labor" candidate in the hopes of dividing the votes of the workers, thus letting the Tory candidate in. The first reports sent broadcast throughout Canada by means of the capitalist press was that O'Brien had been defeated by over two hundred votes. This lie was repeated for almost a week. Then the capitalist press published a small paragraph, 'Returns indicate that Rocky Mountain has gone Socialist, Mr. C. M. O'Brien, the former member, winning out over the Conservative, Mr. Campbell, by a majority of ten.' His return is hailed with gladness by every freedom-loving slave of Canada."

"The Arrival of Kitty"

The management of the local opera house has again been successful in securing one of the most popular musical comedy companies to appear in Blairmore, and on Tuesday night next Hal Johnson and her favorite company will produce "The Arrival of Kitty," which is quoted by all leading papers and theatre goers as the most remarkable comedy involving perfect impersonations that has ever toured the continent.

Hal Johnson as "Kitty," has a unique quality—he is indeed and in truth a she-male; in other words there are two Kitties, one of whom is the real thing and the other a clever impersonation by a man in order to hoodwink an elderly uncle and force from him a consent to the marriage of his niece to the man of her choice. The mystifications caused by the two Kitties are extremely funny and provoking.

"The Arrival of Kitty," which is without a doubt an exception in the order of musical farce comedies, comes highly recommended and is sure to attract a bumper house on Tuesday night. See ad. elsewhere in this paper.

Hillcrest Entertainment

The second entertainment given by the Hillcrest Football Club was held on Wednesday evening, April 30th, and proved to be as great a success as was the basket social given by the Club late last winter. On this occasion the Club gave a masquerade ball, the committee being of the opinion that it would show the club's appreciation of the assistance given by the ladies of the town at the time of the basket social. There were some thirty couples in costume, which made just the right sized crowd for the available dining space for the first time in the history of Hillcrest a large number of visitors from the neighboring towns were present. Blairmore, Frank, Bellevue, Passburg and Burnis were represented, many of these visitors being in costume. Several Blairmore gentlemen, who until the end of the season will be "our friends the enemy" in football circles, attended dressed in their playing suits, and the yellow and black shirts showed up well among the "var-colored" dresses of the other visitors. Before the ball opened Mr. William Barnes, dressed as a clown, took possession of the floor and made a great hit with the audience in the way in which he acted, filling the part for which he was dressed to a nicety. The "Comic Policeman" also did some good stunts, his attempt at keeping the clown, a coon and a gentleman dressed in the national colors in order being ludicrous in the extreme.

As two of the judges did not turn out F. J. Smith was asked to officiate in this capacity, he with J. S. Quigley choosing a third judge, Thos. Taylor. It took the three of them some considerable time to arrive at suitable decisions, so many of the competitors being entitled to consideration. Their decisions awarded the first prize for the most original dress among the ladies to Mrs. Wm. Ryan, the second prize for the dress most suitable for the occasion going to Miss Keil. This second prize among the ladies was advertised as being for the most comic costume, but as there was not a lady present dressed as a comic character the judges awarded the prize as above. Among the gentlemen Sam. Charlton took the prize for the most beautiful masquerade costume and "Ketchup Charlie" the coon the prize for the most comic costume. The prizes, which were a week previous had been on exhibition in the Co-operative store's window, consisted of the following—an ebony backed toilet set for the first ladies' prize; a silver plated fern pot for the second; a solid brass pipe rack for the first gent's and a bottle of Heinz best catsup for the most comic gent's.

The masqueraders unmasked at 12.30 and a light lunch was served, after which the floor was cleared and all joined in the dancing until 4.30 on May Day morning. The thanks of the Club are due to the Hillcrest Orchestra for the classy music they put up, the general opinion of those present being that on this occasion they supplied the best music that has been heard at any dance in this locality.

We have to apologize to our readers for having been late in publication for the past several weeks. An overplus of job printing coupled with the booking of new subscriptions accounts for the delay.

Word comes from Springhill, Nova Scotia, of the suicide of Jack Emery. Mr. Emery was well known throughout The Pass, having for a long time lived in Blairmore. Owing to the illness of his wife, who occupied the old home in Springhill, Jack was obliged to go east just before the end of the late strike. The reason for his dastardly action is not yet known.

J. O. Jones, acting-president of District 18, U. M. W. of A., came up from Lethbridge last Saturday in connection with the disagreement among the miners at Coleman. We understand the trouble has been adjusted and the men returned to work Tuesday.

Engineers to Give Smoker

The Frank Lodge of the N. W.
Association of Stationary. Engineers held their second meeting on Wednesday night in their rooms at the Frank hotel. A good number were in attendance.

It was decided to hold a smoker on Wednesday night next in their rooms in honor of the inauguration of the association and the departure of two or three of the members from the district. The affair will start at 8 o'clock p. m.
sharp, which all engineers are cordially invited to be present.

"The Arrival of Kitty"

This bright, breezy, and brilliant comedy is the offering at the Blairmore opera house next Tuesday night, when amusement seekers will have an opportunity to witness this much liked play while it has been a success for several seasons, and holds the fancy of the public so firmly. Not since the days of Hoy's famous "Trip To Chinatown" have we had such a comedy production. With genuine novelty of plot and ingenuity of treatment woven together in this play "The Arrival of Kitty" has been so successful. The play is abundantly amusing; its characters are neatly different; its plot is cleverly developed through a mass of cross-purposes and mistaken identities to a clear constant finale. The dialogue is clean and crisp and much of it is distinctly witty and full of sparkling fun and surprising turns.

A goose and chicken dinner will be served at the Alberta hotel on Sunday night.

Fifty-two persons partook of the special dinner at the Alberta hotel on Sunday night.

Smoke has risen from the Blairmore brewery, and looks as if operations will soon be in evidence.

C. Beaumont, of the Rex Theatre, Coleman, is arranging to operate a picture show at Hillcrest, where a good programme will be put on three nights a week. The shows will start as soon as the lighting plant arrives.

Passburg Notes

We are exceedingly pleased to hear that Mr. Harry Parsons, engineer at the Leitch Collieries, has succeeded in getting his 200 H. P. steam engine's jacks, and wish him luck.

Our popular pool room proprietor is somewhat indignant over the new pool room regulations, and is looking forward to the day when a man will be taxed for chalking his cue. We anticipate this to be the next step.

Mike Nimek had a rather unfortunate experience last week. He was travelling down his chute when a run of coal occurred burying him to the armpits. He was held in this position until some 20 cars of coal were drawn from the chute and then released very little the worse for his hair-raising experience.

Tom Wright met with a rather bad accident at the Police Flat mines last Tuesday. It appears that he was following his work as rope rider on the outside trip, when he became alarmed at the pace of the trip and jumped off rolling some distance and breaking his jaw. It might be mentioned that the trip passes over two trestle bridges which though not in the least dangerous, are liable to throw a scow into the river under these circumstances. The trip took the run-away switch at the tippie head.

A very amusing passage at arms was witnessed in the Passburg hotel last Wednesday. It appears that Julius, the well known carpenter, was supposed to be doing some work for Mrs. Rudd, of Maple Leaf, he however having been worshipping at the shrine of Bacchus, was taking a rest. Mrs. Rudd drove down and in about one second loaded Julius into her rig and drove off with the capture. We might however state that Julius was somewhat content to accompany her when she assured him that she wouldn't bowl him out. Votes for Women.

Happenings in and Around Bellevue

Joseph Radford has gone to Red Deer.

Mr. Wilson, of the restaurant, visited Monarch last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans were Coleman visitors on Thursday.

Alex. McDonald was in the camp visiting his old friends this week.

James Burke has returned to the camp after a visit to Lethbridge.

Albert May is working up at Lille, and the family have moved to there temporarily.

Mr. Pearson, pit boss at No. 2 mine, came in contact with a fall of coal last week and was badly marked about the face.

A large number of Bellevue people attended the banquet and concert at the Methodist church, Hillcrest, on Wednesday evening.

The Ramblers' Club have added a set of parallel bars to their gymnasium equipment and the boys are getting down to good hard physical training under the leadership of Fred Beal.

It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts aches application. Try it and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. Sold by all dealers.

"Young" Manley and "Jack" Morrison will try conclusions in a fifteen round boxing contest in the Socialist hall on the evening of the 17th. Both men are said to be in prime condition and a good bout is looked for. Beal and Newton will fight a preliminary.

Mrs. S. T. Humble leaves on Monday May 11th for an extended trip in which she will visit her uncle in New York and her parents in Morfirth, England. The local choir expressed their appreciation of Mrs. Humble's services by holding a banquet in her honor in the local Methodist church on Friday night.

When your child has a whooping cough be careful to keep the cough loose and expectoration easy by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as may be required. This remedy will also liquify the tough mucus and make it easier to expectorate. It has been used successfully in many epidemics and is safe and sure. For sale by all dealers.

Bellevue and Blairmore football teams met for their first match on the local grounds on Saturday evening. Notwithstanding the wintry blasts, the people of Bellevue turned out in large numbers to see the game, and the crack Bellevue brass band was out in full strength to celebrate the occasion. Good clean sport characterized the game throughout. From the "kick-off" it was evident that while the Blairmore aggregation were not quitters, they were outclassed by Bellevue Parker and Sloan, the new additions to the local lineup, soon put to rest all fears that they would not make good and there is every evidence that Bellevue has a stronger aggregation of players than ever before. The score was 8 to 0. Bellevue meets Coleman at Coleman next Saturday and it is expected that a large following of rooters will accompany the team.

A sprained ankle may as a rule be cured in from three or four days by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle. For sale by all dealers.

Happenings in and Around Burmis

Uncle Billy expects the arrival of his wife and family from the Old Country at any time. Preparations have been made for their reception, and we sincerely hope that they will take kindly to the change.

A rather noticeable feature around this burg is that the time honored game of football has been somewhat displaced, for we see on passing through the main thoroughfare a few amateur pitchers and catchers.

The unwavering of the Burmis slope is proceeding at a rapid rate. Engineers McIllichae and Slinberry are working the clock round starting, stopping, lowering and re-starting the sinking pump; generally speaking they are re-starting.

There appears to be a great diversity of opinion as to who the next pillar is coming to. We would like to inform all concerned in these details that there has not yet been any matter material system devised by which solution can be arrived at.

There is no real need of anyone being troubled with constipation. Chamberlain's Tablets will cause an agreeable movement of the bowels without any unpleasant effect. Give them a trial. For sale by all dealers.

We beg to draw attention to the fact that Hillcrest in their maid attempt in the Crows' Nest League did well owing to the fact that they wore the Burmis uniforms. It is not fiddling the question when you state that the clothes make the man.

Mrs. Day figures on building a brand new boarding house at Burmis in the near future, but has not quite decided whether to build on the C. P. R. townsite or on the D. C. C. townsite. She claims that signs of commission and omission under present circumstances justify the venture.

Each age of our lives has its joys. Old people should be happy, and they will be if Chamberlain's Tablets are taken to strengthen the digestion and keep the bowels regular. These tablets are mild and gentle for their action and especially suitable for people of middle age and older. For sale by all dealers.

The Order of Gosszurs met at the usual time, and the president drew attention to the wise policy of the Coleman Bulletin in withholding any further remarks on this excellent order. Discretion was ever the better part of valor when the cause is hopeless, and we commend W. H. Murr's backhand in this his last fluster.

The football season is now upon us with its exciting incidents, but thank goodness the Hillcrest correspondent has given us a rest if only for a week. At this glorious burg we anticipated a team of the first waters, but misfortune has digged our footstools and we take pride in the accomplishments of teams who have become the possessors of Burmis talent. Bellevue certainly showed up some last week and we wish nothing better to see this continue throughout the season. While it is not in our province to throw bouquets at anybody we certainly congratulate Bellevue on their footer acumen. At this point the meeting was thrown open for questions and as none were forthcoming the meeting adjourned, the members having decided to take a trip to Beard's camp and renew the old acquaintances.

L. C. Stevens, of Passburg, managed to navigate his way through the rushing humanity of Blairmore on Tuesday. He reports times bristling at the lower end of The Pass.
